

Someone who said 'no' to team building

Hi Ashley,

How are you?

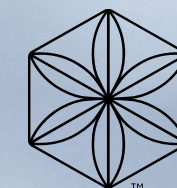

I thought of you because when we last spoke you weren't interested in building a team, but I remembered you were interested in starting a side gig.

So with the holidays coming up, I thought you may be interested to know that Isagenix has just launched a brand new affiliate-only program.

In this program you cannot recruit anyone, you simply earn commission on your sales via links that you can share online or in person. Up to 30% commission on sales, which blows most affiliate programs out of the water!

Shall we jump on a call to go through all the details?

Former Product Sharers / Team Builders

Hi Ashley - How are you?

I was just thinking about you because I know you were open to building an online business, however, you just didn't find it within the Isagenix Network Marketing model.

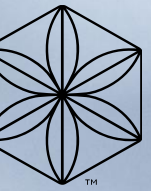

I remember you were great at bringing on customers, so I thought you may be interested to know that Isagenix has created a new affiliate-only model.

It's simple, and for those not interested in building a team, it's ideal. The commission structure is insane! You get paid for both new AND repeat customer orders (up to 30%).

No BV points, active status, cycles or rank advancements - you simply share links and get paid on whatever you sell.

I just know this would be perfect for you.

I have a short webinar coming up that explains it all – would you like the link?

Hi Ashley - How are you?

I was just thinking about you because I know you were open to building an online business, however, you just didn't find it within the Isagenix Network Marketing model.

I remember you were good at bringing on customers, so I thought you may be interested to know that Isagenix has created a new affiliate-only model.

I ran some numbers and I remember you had around 5 customers that regularly order approx $1000 total in sales. In this new program, those kinds of numbers would give you $220 per month in commission.

It's simple, and for those not interested in building a team, it's ideal. The commission structure is insane! You get paid for both new AND repeat customer orders (up to 30%).

No BV points, active status, cycles or rank advancements - you simply share links and get paid on whatever you sell.

I just know this would be perfect for you.

I have a short webinar coming up that explains it all – would you like the link?

Someone who already shares Aff Links / Collabs Online

Hey Ashley - How are you?

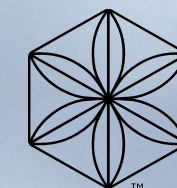

I thought I would reach out to you because I know you already collab with some brands online, and I thought you would be pretty interested in a new affiliate program that Isagenix has just launched.

In this program you can earn up to 30% commission, and that's on both new and repeat sales.

You get access to an extensive range of products to recommend online, including everyday wellness, fitness, skincare, and liquid collagen. There are no minimum quotas or inventory requirements—so it's a great opportunity!

I've got a global webinar coming up that our other new affiliate partners will be on – would you like the details?

Someone who would like an additional income

Hey Ashley - How are you?

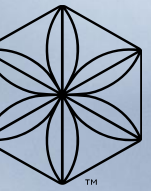

I saw you were online so thought I would reach out.

I have a question for you – I was wondering if you are open to new ways of making money online that wouldn't require building a team?

The reason I ask is because I may have something for you that would help you do just that.

This may or may not be for you, and I don't want to waste your time if it's not for you. If you are open to more information ,just give me a thumbs up, and I'll send some info!

Beauty Professionals

Hey Ashley - How are you?

I've been following your work and noticed your strong influence in the beauty space.

I'm currently seeking collaborators who have an existing customer base within beauty who would like to retail products.

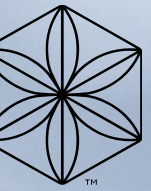

If you often recommend skincare, hair care, beauty products, or wellness items to your clients, I'd love to chat with you about how our brand partner program could be a perfect fit.

With our new affiliate program, you can earn up to 30% commission on both new and repeat sales without having to worry about buying stock upfront or handling deliveries.

If you're interested, just drop me a message, and I can share more details about an upcoming brand partner webinar with you.

Looking forward to hearing back.

Fitness Professionals

Hey Ashley - How are you?

I've been following your work and noticed your strong influence in the fitness space.

I'm currently seeking collaborators who have an existing customer base within fitness who would like to retail products.

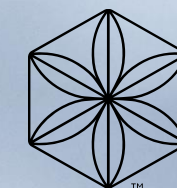

If you often recommend protein, pre-workout or health supplements to your clients, I'd love to chat with you about how our brand partner program could be a perfect fit.

With our new affiliate program, you can earn up to 30% commission on both new and repeat sales without having to worry about buying stock upfront or handling deliveries.

If you're interested, just drop me a message, and I can share more details about an upcoming brand partner webinar with you.

Looking forward to hearing back.

Influencers / Affiliate Marketers

Hi Ashley

I really loved your post about [insert topic here].

My name is Lara, and I work with a company called Isagenix. We provide incredible health, skincare and wellbeing products.

I'm reaching out because (insert what you saw in their feed, posts and what they are passionate about and relate it to Isagenix)

I'd love it if you would collaborate with us, and we can offer you up to 30% on everything you sell via our new Brand Partner Program. It's been designed with influencers like you in mind.

Please let me know if you're interested, and I'll share more details.