Welcome to Indonesia!

Indonesia has a population of more than 263 million. Their growing awareness of health and wellness makes this Southeast Asian country a perfect location for you and your team to introduce Isagenix Solutions to Transform Lives™.

- Primary language is Indonesian.
- Culturally, Indonesians love badminton, football, and table tennis. Celebrities are highly influential, and coffee shops are popular social hangouts for the growing young middle class.
- Organic and GMO-free foods are becoming popular with middle- and high-income consumers.
- All travelers to Indonesia must have a valid passport for at least six months from the date of arrival and have proof (tickets) of onward or return passage.

The Industry in Indonesia

- Housewives and full-time working employees looking for additional income are among those joining direct selling companies.
- Rising disposable incomes will remain the primary engine of growth among Indonesian consumers, especially among the middle-income class.

Isagenix Has the Solutions

- Rates of obesity are rising. Rates among children have doubled in the last decade.
- Sports and leisure facilities have been rapidly growing in urban areas, driven by a growing awareness of health and appearance among young, urban males.
- Regulated by stringent labor laws, the average work day is eight hours a day/40 hours a week. However, many low-wage workers seek a second source of income or do freelance work.
- Indonesia ranks in the top 10 for health and wellness growth markets.
